Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurA P.G. Wodehouse novelChteau Blissac, on its hill above St Roque, is in a setting where every prospect pleases. But it doesn't please its current occupier, J. Wellington Gedge. Mr Gedge wants none of it - and particularly none of the domineering Mrs Gedge's imperious wish that he should become American Ambassador to Paris. Instead he pines for the simpler life of California, where men are men and filling stations stand tall.Mrs Gedge has powerful allies - including the prohibitionist Senator Opal. But will she get her way? And will the Senator's delightful daughter Jane get her man?In a plot which involves safe-blowers, con men, jewel-thieves and even a Bloomsbury novelist, few are quite as they seem. But the heady atmosphere of France in the 1930s makes for one of Wodehouse's most delightful comedies. Revue de presse "It's dangerous to use the word genius to describe a writer, but I'll risk it with him" (John Humphrys) "Not only the funniest English novelist who ever wrote but one of our finest stylists" (Susan Hill) "For as long as I'm immersed in a P.G. Wodehouse book, it's possible to keep the real world at bay and live in a far, far nicer, funnier one where happy endings are the order of the day" (Marian Keyes) "Wodehouse always lifts your spirits, no matter how high they happen to be already" (Lynne Truss) "The incomparable and timeless genius - perfect for readers of all ages, shapes and sizes!" (Kate Mosse)
